

What We Do

Just as each patient has unique desires and expectations for their dental health, each dental practice has unique ways of operating and helping patients with their dental needs. No one dental practice can be all things to all patients. We feel it's important for you to understand the nature of what our dental practice provides and how we go about providing it in order for you to ensure that what we do is what you are looking for. The overall reason our dental practice exists is described below in our Mission Statement. The majority of the new patients who come to our practice are referred by other patients like you.

Our practice's mission is to provide for each of our patients the opportunity to achieve excellent oral health. Our primary responsibility is to educate each patient about their current level of oral health, as well as what we can do to help them improve that level of health. Only then can each patient make a knowledgeable decision concerning the level of oral health they then choose for themselves. While acknowledging each patient's right to choose whatever level of oral health he or she wishes to attain, our practice's emphasis is on providing optimum comprehensive restorative dentistry for those patients who choose excellent oral health.
